Its Terrible Condition, and How It Can be Improved. Several days ago we called attention to the horrible condition of Zine street, on the Isl-and, one of the most travelled thoroughfares in the city, and yet one which is almost i passible with safety and comfort for any ordi-nary vehicle. A valued friend and correspondent, whose experience and observation gives extra weight to his words, sends us the lowing on the subject:

WHEELING, November 11, 1882.

Wheelenger.

Editors Intelligencer.

Now that our former system of improving and repairing our streets has been superseled, and that work consigned to a loant of Public Works, I wish to suggest a plan for the improvement of one important thorough fare, Zane street, Island. The plan I mean is putting down a double track of that stee or tron ralls between the two bridges. I have several times called the attention of Council to this important improvement to years conseveral lines called the attention of Council to this important improvement in years gone by. If this change had been made at that time our people would have been well paid before this by having a good readway that would have induced our Onio friends to have attended our markets in the winter and spring seasons when the roads are bad, whereas they now come to Bridgeport, and, this street being impassible, they find it much cheaper and better for them to dispose of their produceat Bridgeport such produce is often purchased at that point and shipped to Pittsburgh, the farmers taking even less money rather than pay the tolls over the two bridges and encounter this almost impassible street.

imoney rather than pay the tolla over the two bridges and encounter this almost impassible street.

I would also recommend, if such change should be made, that the iron be laid upon locust ties and stringers, it being as I believe the cheapest wood, because the most durable. When once laid it would be a permanent roadway for all the heavy hauling between the city, the Island and the State of Ohio, for a fong time to come. No ordinary paving that can be put down can be made so rerviceable against the wear and tear of so many narrow wagon tires and heavy loads as are hauled over this street. The situation of this street at the present time is such that before any permanent paving could be put down the street would require to be brought to its proper grade and permanent curbs set on both wides, which would cost much more than the plan proposed, besides a continual expense every year in keeping the road in repair. Many of the cities now depend more upon their dat iron rails on their main thoroughar as many a many. Take for instance they instance that near men and a many. their flat iron rails on their main thorough-fares than upon any sort of paving that can be made. Take, for instance, Penn and old faithfield streets and the bridges of Pitta-burgh, also flatimore street, Baitmore, and many streets in other cities. These streets could hardly exist without this protection with the heavy loads that are constantly hauded over them. Is it not now the time and our proper policy to relieve ourselves from the present abonjunable musance that we have contended with for so many years, and have spent yearly, you may say, hun-dreds of dollars upon? My suggestion would be to lay down a wide and have spent yearly, you may say, hundreds of dollars upon?

My suggestion would be to lay down a wide that rait, double track, between the two bridges, making the gauge, my fur feet three inches, which would adapt hard for could keep to the right both on and off the bridges. Wagons passing over this short distance would seldom be compelled to pull off the tright, as this swort distance to keep out of the way of the cars. The plan I would suggest for the paying of the cost of these improvements would be to divide the cost of these improvements would be to divide the cost of these improvements. First, the Street Railway Company remove the present track and use it wherever they might need it, the company paying one-third of the cost of the new tracks. This I deem just, as the double track will be of much greater advantage to them than the single track.

Second—One-third to be paid by the Bridge Company on account of the increase! trayel over their bridges induced by this flat rail arrangement.

Third—One-third of the cost allot to the arrangement.

Titul—One-third of the cost I allot to the city on account of the saving of the large expenditures in the keeping up of this street, and the great advantage gifned by our people in hauling more sheeply god, produce, marketing, &c., to our city during the stason of bad roads.

in hauting more sheaply soal, produce, marketing, &c., to our city during the season of bad roads.

I view this as a just distribution of the cost of putting down this double flat rail, and if done, the people will laye something that will give satisfaction. This will not be the case it the Board of Public Works tudertakes to boulder or again macadamize this street for general use. Every year it will require almost to be rebuilt, and the expense and trouble will be endless. Nothing but the; granite block or the rough mill chapt will make a nermanent road bed on this street? the flat from or steel rail idea is rejected. But why should it be rejected when we have the evidence at the feasibility of the plan from the places and the feasibility of the plan from the places and also the testimony of the present condition of the flat rails now in use upon the two bridges, which shows what amount of wear they will stand? Those rails upon the bridges were used at Columbus, Onio, 1990 their main street, by the street careompany on thai plage, for siy years before that time they have been in coastant use for sixteen years, yet they appear to be worn lift title with the amount of heavy trayel passing orgat them.

Is it not plain, with these facts before us, that the host economical and best thing to do is to adopt the plan here surgested and go to work and put down a first-class double track of flat from or steel rails? Steel or iron can now he purchased for about firty dollars per ton. The distance for both tracks, commencing with the present double tracks on the bridge, would make both tracks on the bridge, would make both tracks on the bidge, would make both tracks.

Yesterday was Missionary Standay with the Lutherans of this city. Her. Unangst, late anissionary to India, spoke in the morning and evening. After the close of the morning service leve, Barnitz arose to ofter prayer, but closed hastily, made a few steps backward and sank on the sole completely exhausted. The congregation was considerably alarmed from his floot-like appearance, but he soon railied and was taken home. He was unable to attend the union services in the afternorn and evening, but we learn to day that he rests easy and will soon he able to be about again. It was caused by overwork and we hope for the good of the church that he will not allow his duties to ruin his health. He has been traveling considerably of late, and for as many as three mights in accession has not had any sleep.— tecnology, lowe, State Luder.

A Step Toward Breaking up a Bad Pra tice in Market,

A Step Toward Breaking up a Bad Practice in Market.

For sometime a good deal of complaint has been heard of the petty swindling practiced by persons having stalls in the city markets, who have time and again been detected in their weights and neasures. While several dealers have been charged with the offense, and many buyers have been victimized, no one has lost a sufficient sum to make it worth his while to seek redress, but several complaints have been made to reporters of this paper, with a request that attention be called to the matter.

Un Saturday a man named Gallaher, living out near St. Clairsville, had in the upper Market a quantity of butter. He had a number of small rolls which he sold as one pound each, and larger ones which he weighted. Market Master Robinson noticed the rolls which he claimed to be pounds, and askel if he was selling them as pound rolls. He answered that he was. One of them was weighted and found to be short, and all the others were subsequently weighted with the same result. The lutter was then confiscated by Mr. Robinson, who sold it, some thirty-eight pounds in all, at public sale, and turned the money into the city treasury.

In the afternoon Mr, Gallaher entered suit before 'Squire Peternan to recover damages for the action of the Market Master, giving security for the costs, and the case was set for he action of the Market Master, giving security for the costs, and the case was set for hearing next Saturday afternoon at four octock.

Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock the inhabitants of Fulton were roused and startled by the baying of degs, yells of men and the sischange of interams. Wonderingly they poured out of their houses in order to acceptain what all this disturbance of the Sabbyth day mennt, and found a number of farmers and their help shoulding at a dog in front of the school house, while up on the hill a crowd was in hot purguit after a large yellow dog. It seems that for sometime past the farmers up Peter's Run have been annoyed by dogs killing their theen. Satisfied handsome black lighest a hloodhound and a yellow stongred got in among the sheep of Meesrs. Nichols and Carr, and killed and wounded about 133. That settled it. The farmers started out after the dogs and chased them to Fulton, creating considerable excitement in the little suburb. The dogs wegs killed, which was perfectly right and proper.

Rather a singular, if not a mysterious, piece of intelligence came to the ear of your correspondent last evening. It seems that out about three miles back of town a man of a very slender, effecting but the seems that out about three miles back of town a man of a very slender, effecting but the seems wandering about the neighbodhood, always appearing at the different farm houses just about dark or in the morning just at day break and getting just what little to eat he sants, paying for the same, and silently going away, not molesting anything or anyhoty. Those who have seen the individual think it is a woman in male attire. From whence he comes or whither he goes, none seem to have as yet ascertained, or anything about the eccentric individual. The community are considerably exercised over the actions and non-appearance of the person during the hours of the day, and the coming to view when none of the men folks of the houses which have been visited are alout. Another peculiar circumstance is that he has not appeared in the same costume at any of the different houses he has paid a visit to. Something of a sensational character may be the outgrowth of it if investigated.
